

United States Steel Corporation Statement on Conflict Materials

U. S. Steel shares the concerns of Congress and the international business community that profits from the mining of certain minerals in the Democratic Republic of Congo (“DRC”) or adjoining countries (“Conflict Minerals”) may be aiding human rights abuses in portions of the DRC.

In July 2010, the United States Congress passed legislation¹ mandating supply chain due diligence and public disclosure related to the sourcing of these Conflict Minerals.

U. S. Steel is committed to legal and ethical compliance in all its business practices and will comply with this legislation, along with all related implementing regulations issued by the SEC or other agencies.

At this time, we are not aware of the use of any Conflict Minerals sourced from listed DRC countries in U. S. Steel products. We will continue to proactively work with industry groups, governmental agencies and our suppliers to verify a conflict free supply chain.
